

terracotta tiles

Terracotta tiles, derived from the Italian words “terra” meaning earth and “cotta” meaning baked, are as authentic as their name suggests. Made from natural clay, these tiles are kiln-fired to achieve a hardness suitable for flooring and other applications. The handmade production process ensures that each tile carries its own unique character, embodying the essence of traditional Mexican craftsmanship, especially in the case of Mexican terracotta.

While they are renowned for their signature rich, rusty red hues, terracotta tiles are also available in a variety of colors, including charcoal and white. These earthy tones lend a warm and inviting aesthetic, creating captivating spaces that appeal to audiences around the globe.
